<td>Police flights from peaceful protests in Naypyidaw. Near Tha Pyay Gone Roundabout Rubber bullets. Four people were injured in the shelling. Among them was 19-year-old Mya Thwe Thwe Khaing, who was shot in the head and taken to a 1,000-bed hospital in Naypyidaw. The junta has stated that security forces do not use lethal weapons. A police officer was seen holding a BA-94 or BA-93 sub-machine gun similar to a Burmese-made Uzi. Attempts were made to remove the bullet that struck Mya Thwe Thwe Khaing in the head, but doctors surrendered on the morning of February 12, 2021. A doctor at Nay Pyi Taw Hospital who treated her said the bullet had penetrated her head. Most of her brain function is out of order. The wound was caused by a live bullet. The bullet pierced the back of the right ear and landed on the left side of the head. He was medically diagnosed with brain death. According to a photo of her motorcycle helmet hit by a bullet, the bullet appeared to have pierced the helmet and could not have been a rubber bullet. Forensic experts have speculated that the bullet may have been a real bullet. She also concluded that the shape of her fall had been a direct hit, not a recurrence. On February 15, the family agreed to remove the breathing tube and transport the body, but the junta verbally pressured them to delay as much as they could. He died at 11:15 a.m. on February 19.</td>

Ah Khu is a women’s rights activist who has been active during the Spring Revolution. At noon on March 28, the armed wing of the Junta cracked down on Tahan protesters with sound grenades, rubber bullets, assault rifles and heavy explosive weaponry. Ah Khu was providing medical assistance to front line protesters who were injured. A plain clothed junta soldier shot Ah Khu in the chest from a tall building. She died on the way to the hospital. On the return of Ah Khu’s body to Chin State, the junta was conducting a search operation in Kalemyo Township and at the exit gates of Kalemyo. Her body was stopped three times on the way back to Chin State. They falsely claimed that the body was not Ah Khu, but the body of someone that had died as a result of high blood pressure. The junta have regularly taken bodies away and cremated them, themselves. Ah Khu’s family members decided not to use the name “Ah Ku”, to prevent this from happening and avoid harassment from the junta.

Twenty-year-old nurse Thinzar Hein was killed, along with an as of yet unidentified man, on Sunday in Monywa by the regime’s armed forces. Thinzar Hein was working with a rescue team & was shot in the head while attending to other people who had been shot by the junta's troops. On March 28 at around midday, junta troops cracked down on protesters, close to the bridge bus stop in South Dagon Township, Yangon Region. Junta troops shot Ma Khaing Zar Thwe, an AYA bank employee, dead in the temple.

35 local villagers, including children and staff from Save the Children, were arrested and burnt to death, when the vehicles they were on, were set on fire. This atrocity happened when the villagers ran into the armed wing of the Junta, while using vehicles to flee a clash near Moso village in Hpruso Township, Kayah State, on the morning of December 24. Before their death, four members of the Karenni National People’s Liberation Front (Kalalata) met with junta troops to negotiate the release of these detained villagers. These four members were brutally killed by the junta troop, who tied them up and shot them dead in the head.

Myo Naing, living in Ward (3) in Magway Region’s Pakoku Town, was arrested on October 25 for being accused of having relations with the People Defense Forces (PDFs) in Pakokku Township. Myo Naing died in Pakokku Prison on December 27 from injuries consistent with torture at an interrogation center.

On the night of December 29, the armed wing of the junta entered Hnan Khar Village in Magway Region’s Gantgaw Township. Terrorist troops killed then set fire to a local villager named Htwar Maung.

On the night of December 26, a complaint was lodged to the ward administration office by a veteran living nearby Ye Ko’s house. Due to noise between Ye Ko and his wife, living in Myeik Township in Tanintharyi Region, who had an argument as Ye Ko was drunk. Therefore, junta soldiers stationed at the ward administration office, police and members of the Fire Service Department came to arrest Ye Ko but Ye Ko escaped. On December 27, soldiers, police and members of the Fire Service Department had beaten him even though he apologized and came to them to arrest himself. On December 29, his family was informed to admit him to hospital but Ye Ko has already died.
